FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

FOUR NEW DISTINGUISHED DIRECTORS JOIN BIZWORLD'S BOARD

San Francisco, CA – May 21, 2010 –The BizWorld Foundation proudly announces the election of four new Directors to its National Board. The BizWorld Foundation inspires children to be innovative leaders through the teaching of entrepreneurship, business and finance. They connect third – eighth grade students to the real world by providing curricula, training educators and fostering collaboration between education and business.

"I am proud to join an organization with the right mission and people to make real contributions to the world of education and the economy." said, Ambassador Johnson.

The new Directors include:

Ambassador Brenda Johnson an American business executive, diplomat, and philanthropist

Ambassador Bruce Gelb, former Ambassador to Belgium, former Director of USIA, former president of Clairol, and the former vice chairman of Bristol-Myers Squibb
Secretary Chris Burnham, Vice Chairman and Managing Director at Deutsche Asset Management Inc., former Undersecretary of State and Undersecretary General with the UN

Kathryn Mosbacher Wheeler, distinguished writer for Town & Country, Departures, T Magazine, Food & Wine, and Epicureous.com

The new Directors will begin their service on June 23, 2010 at the third quarter board meeting in Menlo Park, California.

"The new Directors are valuable additions to our growing board and each will bring with them a broad network of friends, colleagues and associates who will help take BizWorld to new heights." states, Tim Draper, Founder and Chairman, The BizWorld Foundation.
